Verticals

Verticals

- The verticals contain segments of the market and the target audiences of these segments
- They divide the target audience with different features, creating niches

The show people's interests

How to choose a vertical

- Identify something you are interested in (make a list)

Hobbies? Free time? Articles? Topics?

A tip: choose one up to two verticals

- A want or a desire

How are you going to help people? Do they need your help?

An idea: find companies in your vertical, research them /discussions/

- Is the vertical profitable? Is it popular?

A network diagram with a central red circle containing the text "Target groups". The diagram consists of a central red circle with the text "Target groups" in white. Surrounding this central circle is a network of smaller, light gray circles connected by thin gray lines. The network is composed of several interconnected nodes and edges, forming a complex web. The central circle is the largest and most prominent, while the other nodes are smaller and less distinct. The overall layout is centered and balanced.

Target groups

Target group

- Your audience is sometimes right before your eyes
- Once you know who your target audience is and what's most important to them, you can increase your revenue by creating strategic content and engaging users
- When you know your target audience, you know where to find the people who are most likely to buy what you sell and how to convince them to do so

Target group [2]

The group (or groups) of people who are most likely to resonate with the products and convert. Your target audience influences your success as an affiliate in many ways, including:

- Content
f.e. YouTube videos
- Brands

- Social media presence

Target group [3]

| Pillars of segmentation table

Target group [4]

- Demographic

Potential clients are identified by criteria such as age, race, gender, income level, family size, occupation, level of education and marital status.

- Geographic

Potential customers are in the local, state, regional or national market segment.

Example: Agricultural machinery - geographical location is a major factor

- Psychographic

Offering products based on the attitudes, beliefs and emotions. The desire for status, improved appearance and more money are examples of psychographic variables.

- Behavioral

Products and services are bought for various reasons such as brand, loyalty, price, how often and at what time of year customers in a segment use and consume products.

How to define your target audience?

- 1) Research
- 2) Look at your existing audience (if you have one)

Questionnaires, analyse social media

- 2) Define problems you have solutions for and who has those problems

- 3) Research your vertical and your competition's target group

Social media, forums, sites, etc.

Considerations

- You create the ideal customers you're looking for, you generalize
- You need to understand the target audience and be transparent
- You need to build trust
- When you join an affiliate network, your affiliate manager can help you with the targeting

Crypto example

- 25 to 34-year-old
- Second highest group, 35 to 45-year-old
- Mostly Male but female investors are doubling every two months or so
- Low-tech to high-tech individuals
